ACADIS PORTAL

It only fits that your increasingly mobile, interconnected workforce would need anywhere, anytime access to essential training, registration and scheduling information. And through the Acadis Portal, that's exactly what you get.

The Acadis Portal provides a web-based platform for your training organization to publish information to — and collect data from — agencies and field offices. Its key components help you maintain convenient access to accurate, comprehensive and legally defensible training records.

Acadis Portal Framework

With the Acadis Portal Framework, you can capture and compile training and recertification information from remote offices. You can also submit detailed training events, append personnel rosters and track attendance as part of each professional's lifelong learning record. So you'll increase the accuracy of training records, all while reducing paper-based reporting and duplicative data entry.

Acadis Workforce Portal

The Acadis Workforce Portal lets authorized personnel from agencies and field offices to secure access to their employees' data, including contact information, certification status, expirations and more. You can get a firm view of individual and team readiness, ensure compliance and eliminate paperwork bottlenecks that come from "over-centralized" data management.

Acadis Online Registration Portal

Thanks to the Acadis Registration Portal, your training coordinators and personnel can view information on upcoming training events and then immediately register for them. And integration with the Acadis Registration module provides course catalogs with prerequisites, calculates seat availability, and even adds students to waitlists.

Acadis Instructor Scheduling Portal

Through the Acadis Scheduling Portal, you can let your instructors view their training calendars, report availability and immediately notify academy staff of scheduling conflicts.

Acadis Personal Portal

Your personnel can better manage their professional development through the Acadis Personal Portal. It lets them review their training history and qualifications, and flag certifications that are out-of-status or about to expire.

ACADIS WORKFORCE PORTAL

It's been said that "many hands make light work." But when resource-starved training departments have fewer hands to do the work, gaining efficiencies in every corner of their operations becomes that much more critical.

The Acadis Workforce Portal lets agencies and departments decentralize tasks involved in training management. Through the Workforce Portal, designated representatives have secure access to the full training records for all of their personnel.

That means you can view your team members' contact information and training records and certifications. In conjunction with other Acadis portal modules, you can also register your personnel for coursework, add in-service training events, and more.

The Acadis Workforce Portal makes it easy to track your compliance, even if your team is geographically distributed and manages training and compliance through a whole host of stakeholders. Since data entry is available to authorized reviewers, you can eliminate paperwork bottlenecks that would otherwise obstruct effective training management, all while creating a more complete view of individual and team readiness.

KEY BENEFITS

Get the Complete Picture: Provide agency and department managers with the ability to access authoritative training and certification information for their personnel

Ensure Compliance: Coordinate certification renewal activities proactively by monitoring certification expiration information (including status and expiration dates of certifications for all agency or department personnel)

Empower Action: Let authorized agency officers submit in-service training events and personnel change requests that can be approved — or even auto-approved — through the Acadis Workforce Portal

Access Anywhere: Access key information through the Acadis Portal Framework, which allows secure remote access to training records across your entire organization

"The strategic planning session that you navigated for IDHS was fantastic and all the feedback I got was the same from those who participated. I must say that your knowledge of our domain separates Envisage from other IT solution providers. It is one thing to know technology but it is quite another thing to know our business needs. As one who believes IT is a tool for the business need it is nice to know we have a partner who is on the same page."
